Disaster Risk Reduction Education Network Listserv

(ENDRR-L) The Disaster Risk Reduction Education Network is an email listserv that intends to provide a communication forum for everyone concerned with the disaster risk reduction education for both children (including school safety) and adults. It will provide a forum for sharing information, research, meetings, publications, discussions, initiatives and achievements related to curriculum, materials, campaigns, programs and policies for drr education. We hope that it will attract and link field practitioners, researchers, teachers, policy makers, and individuals everywhere who are active or interested in disaster risk reduction education.

Please note: When replying to a listserv message, personally, please locate the individual's email address, otherwise the message is forwarded to the moderator.

Children Youth and Disasters (YOU CAN) Network Listserv

(CYDNET-L) The Children, Youth and Disasters Network is a newly-created email listserv that intends to provide a communication forum for everyone concerned with the participation, interests and needs of children and youth in disaster risk prevention, preparedness, response and recovery. It will provide a forum for sharing information, research, meetings, publications, discussions, initiatives and achievements related to children and youth in disasters. We hope that it will attract and link field practitioners, researchers, teachers, policy makers, youth and individuals everywhere who are interested in this children, youth and disasters.

DRR Library - Social tagging site

DRR Library allows users to post their bookmarks (or "favorites") to an online site where they are always available to you AND to others. Select your own keywords, write descriptions.

- Store your favourite drr links in one place, accessible from anywhere.
- Share your bookmarks with everyone, with friends on your watchlist or just keep them private
- Tag your bookmarks with as many labels as you want, instead of wrestling with folders.
- Place drr library bookmarklet on your browser menu for easy access.

Please note that if you want to use social tagging for other sites of personal interest, other than drr related, please use <http://del.icio.us/> or similar general interest services.
